Professional Experience

Ms. Douglass joined STI in 2007 as a graphic designer. She designs the visual appearance of products ranging from websites and direct mail pieces to information architecture and infographics. Ms. Douglass designed the layout and color scheme for the EPA Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards (OAQPS) 2006 and 2007 National Air Quality Status and Trends Reports. She also pursues a freelance career through Lemon Fresh Design, a graphic and web design company she founded in 2002.

Prior to joining STI, Ms. Douglass served as Art Department Lead for Taylor Roberts, a model home merchandising company. In 2000, Seven Interactive hired Ms. Douglass as a Junior Web Designer, where she designed web pages for corporate clients such as Accenture, WaMu, and Agilent.
